Hope in the future of the economy is the basis of opening a new art gallery in Sturgeon Bay Wisconsin. Dreams and ambition support the faith that not only tourists, but the Door County community will embrace this gallery to be unique in the types of creative original art, adding to the many great artists who make their homes here. While Door County finds its shops closing during this challenging time for businesses, new opportunities and properties exist daily. Monica Ramirez and her partner have succeeded in turning a 75 year old building into a home where they can live and work, sharing Monica's artistic gifts in the new Mona Lucy Gallery.

In 2017, Monica left behind a healthcare career of 25 plus years operating and directing hospice organizations, retirement communities and nursing homes in the Chicago area, to settle in Sturgeon Bay and begin her next chapter as an artist. She attended Northwestern University and is a Certified Art Therapist. Monica now enjoys creating art for pleasure in her studio full-time which is attached to her quaint gallery at 626 Jefferson Street.

The Mona Lucy Gallery is a display of original acrylic/watercolor abstract art on canvas and other objects, painted with vibrant colors and textures for enhanced beauty. The Gallery will host guest artist from time to time, with the grand opening featuring pottery by Charmain Benton. These all-original pottery designs for display are appealing to fine pottery collectors as well people who appreciate beauty in pottery form.

Join us for the Grand Opening. Guests must wear masks, hand sanitizer is provided, and a limited number of people will be allowed at a given time so appointments must be scheduled by choosing times at <https://booking.appointy.com/MonaLucyGallery?sr=790705> or by calling 920-495-0651.
